GAU SEVA AT GOLOKA
in Chinmaya Gardens

नमो देव्यै महा देव्यै सुरभ्यै च नमो नमः ।
गवां बीज-स्वरूपाय नमस्ते जगदम्बिके ।।

Salutations to the great Goddess who takes the form of the divine wish-fulfilling cow, Surabhi. Salutations to the Mother of the world, who alone manifests as all cows.

She is worshiped as Goddess Lakshmi – the bestower of prosperity, and Go Mata- the divine mother who feeds and nourishes. Therefore to feed and care for the cow each day is considered very meritorious. (Punya Karma).

Be blessed by Go Mata by contributing for the Goloka – the Abode of cows
at Chinmaya Gardens (which has 10 cows and calves).

Go Seva Sponsor:

1. Monthly cost of feeding and care
of one cow      Rs. 1,500 / US $ 25
2. Annual cost of feeding and care
of one cow      Rs. 18,000 / US $ 300
3. Donating one cow
Rs. 40,000 / US $ 700

Chinmaya Gardens:

Located at the foot hills of the Nilgiri Mountains this serene and verdant ashram hosts Vedanta and Purohit Courses, Dharma Sevak Courses, Meditation Retreats, Camps for children, youth and adults and the office of the CCMT Education Cell. It also runs a Rural Development Center and a Goshala.

Goloka - The Abode of Cows:

The scriptures declare that the Lord incarnates to protect Brahmins (noble souls) and cows (sattvik beings). Cows in the Indian Culture are not just considered sattvik but also divine and are therefore worshiped. Everything from the cow – milk, urine and dung have curative, nourishing, purifying and sanctifying value.

शुभायै सुभद्रायै गोप्रदायै नमो नमः ।
यशोदायै कीर्त्तिकायै धर्मदायै नमो नमः ॥

Salutations to the divine cow who bestows auspiciousness, continued prosperity as cows, fame, success and Dharma.
